Ayurveda is holistic, authentic, reliable and preventive science for the entire humanity. This conference will offer a cost-effective and easy-to-implement system of natural health care, which is prevention oriented and which will promote both individual as well as social health. Ayurveda, in fact, offers the ideal solution to the current crisis in modern health care systems that are based solely on modern western medicine. It has the potential to create self-sufficiency in health care for all nations and ultimately a disease-free society.

This conference is being organized to bring to light the time tested knowledge of Ayurveda with up-to-date insights from modern western science on scientifically verified solutions to showcase the effectiveness of Ayurveda towards fulfilling the human pursuits.
